

Speaker's Intro

Arjen Bos

Arjen Bos is a co-founder of and partner in Engage! InterAct and the Executive Director of CHE Synnervate. He also recently started to work on a book on creative principles as an inspirational tool in addressing limiting beliefs and fear in times of crisis and transition.

He is a recognised speaker on the themes of leadership and organisation in times of transition, chaordic design of future-driven organisations, creativity and innovation and recognising and working with limiting beliefs. How do we overcome those beliefs and assumptions that stand in the way of releasing our full creative and innovative potential? How can we channel that potential to the benefit of our (personal) leadership, our organisational forms and structures and the nature of our relationships with our colleagues, clients and bosses, or even parents and children? How do we activate and manifest our resilience in times of transition, how do we not lose our essences out-of-sight?

Arjen is inspired and informed by a wide range of disciplines, including Spiral Dynamics Integral (on the evolution of value systems), Improv (Theatre) Wisdom (on creative principles for collective intelligence), Chaordic Lenses (on the dance between chaos and order in organisational design), Appreciative Inquiry (on appreciative approaches to manifesting our passions) and the Brazilian martial art Capoeira (on integrating our whole selves in our life-affirming leadership). They help him to make sense of the world around - and in - him, act with precision and move ahead consciously, but swiftly.

Subjects that Arjen can be invited to speak about include:

- 🌀 The call for creativity and innovation in organisations
- 🌀 The future of how we work together and lead each other
- 🌀 Leadership in transition: dealing with our limiting beliefs

Arjen Bos has spoken in many different (international) settings: from a 200- people audience in Taiwan on Leadership in Education, to a 250-people strong conference in Belarus on Releasing our Full Creative Potential in Times of Crisis, to smaller audiences of leaders, managers and consultants on Chaordic Design of our future organisations (for example, in co-operation with the Project Network). With a background in theatre and Capoeira, as well as (intercultural) group facilitation, he combines a high-energy performing presence with sensitivity to the needs of people in the room, creating a powerful and engaging experience.
